Mapping the Evidence for Social and Public Policy

Dr. Vivian Welch will describe evidence mapping initiatives by the Campbell Collaboration and its partners in the areas of international development, social policy and crime and justice. These interactive maps are developed to rapidly scope literature to inform decisions about social policy and identify gaps in the evidence base. She will also describe how these maps are used to commission research to fill gaps. Christine Mathew will describe a case of an ongoing evidence and gap map on aging.

Lunch provided.
Cet événement sera présenté en anglais.

November 13 2018
11:30 am–1:00 pm
Faculty of Social Sciences room 4006
All welcome!